HANDS & FEET

Hot paraffin treatments have been used for years by doctors and physical therapists to soothe the pain of arthritis, tendonitis and swollen feet. Paraffin is a petroleum by-product of wax that has excellent heat retention properties. The paraffin coating causes an increase in blood circulation and the opening of skin pores. As a result, perspiration is generated acting as a mini-sauna and moisturizers are absorbed more effectively into the skin. Skin that was once dry and rough results in a soft, fresh healthy appearance. This soothing, luxurious treatment acts as a conditioning cosmetic treatment for hands and feet.
